ing in the Masonic Temple in Newton-ville when the Newton Chapter of the Sorder of DeMolay put on its annual Memorial Service and Public Installation. All the work was done by the boys who wore Tuxedos in place of the usual costumes. The ceremonies were dignified and well done.

In the Memorial Service flowers of carious kinds were laid on the "altar of memory" by various officers with appropriate ritual in each case. Incidental music was furnished by a brass quartet from the Chapter band, composed of Ray Hoffman, George Cobb, Edwin Armstrong, and James Stevenson. In the intermission following the Memorial Service a trumpet solo, rendered by Max Cohen, also a member of the band, was well received by the audience. Cohn is but seventeen years old and is a wonder as a trumpeter.

For the Installation the Installing Suite was composed of P. M. C. David Clark, Junior Councilor; Ralph A. Paterson, Senior Deacon: Stuart E. Hills, Marshall: P. M. C. Harry W. Mercer, Chaplain; P. M. C. Robert M. Clark, Orator.

SPAIN STARS IN TWELFTH WIN

Newton high won its twelfth consecutive victory of the season and its seventh in the Suburban league on the holiday morning by trouncing Brookline 6 to 2 on the latter's field. Frank Spain, stellar Newton shortstop, was the fielding star of the game with three brilliant plays while the hitting of Fletcher and Andres was responsible enough to put the game on ice. Roland Coombs started in the bbx for Newton but after three passes and a sacrifice hit had filled the bases Reilly took over the pitching duties and subdued the Wealthy Towners. Reilly allowed but three hits, one an infield fly that Warren lost in the sun, and was never threatened except in the eighth.

After Reilly had relieved Coombs

After Reilly had relieved Coombs with the bases full and one down H. Wilson, Brookline shortstop hit to Reilly who deflected the ball so that Fletcher threw the runner out with Cannon scoring from third. With men on second and third. Captain Cannon scoring from third. With men on second and third. Captain Jim Ryan hit a fast grounder to deep short which Spain took and by a long perfect throw beat the runner to first. With two down in the second Spain made a leaping back hand stab to MacDonnell's liner to end the inning. In the third Cannon, the first Brook-line player at bat, hit a Texas leaguer fly to short right which Warren, Swett and Spain went after. Calling for the ball Spain made a leap into the air between his teammates, both of whom were in no position to take it, and speared the ball. With these three plays and several others he had a busy day, having nine chances with but one error. This latter was on a smash by Stranahan which took a bad bounce.

The orange and black started scoring in the first frame. Spain drew a walk, went to second on a passed ball and to third on Powers' sacrifice. Spain was safe at the plate, sliding in under Ryan on deMille's rap. Fletcher scored deMille from first on a two-base hit to left. Andres was safe when Lewitsky dropped Wilson's throw and Fletcher came home and scored when Ryan lost Lewitsky's throw, Andres taking second. Swett pushed him along to third and Warren brought him in on a sacrifice. Swett was caught at third. Capt. deMille's double in the third was wasted as he was caught rounding third on Fletcher's bunt which went for a hit. Andres beat out a hit to Cannon but was doubled off first on Swett's foul fly. Cannon but was doubled off first on Swett's foul fly.

In the eighth the orange and black added two more tallies, deMille singled. Fletcher sacrificed, Andres doubled to score deMille and scored later on two passed balls, while Swett and Warren were striking out.

After the first inning when Brook-line scored one run they were never dangerous until the eighth when they counted another. Except for Ryan's single in the fourth, Lewitsky's infield fly which Warren lost in the sun in the fifth, and Lewitsky's single and a base on balls in the seventh, Brookline went out in order. In the eighth Sovrensky reached when he failed to dodge one of Reilly's fast ones and both were safe on Spain's error on Stranahan's drive. Spain tossed Sovrensky out at third on Nyhan's rap and Reilly threw Stranahan out at third on Wilson's grounder. Ryan singled sending Nyhan to third but Powers backed up against the bank in right field to take Lynch's long fly.

Paragrapher Akin to Ancient Court Jester

This republican counterpart of the king's jester is the newspaper pararapher and paragrapher-cartoonist. His development, and the privileged character of his position in our system, constitute one of the most impressive curiosities of modern journalism, Albert Jay Nock writes, in Harper's Magazine.

No more exact parallel to the primitive institution could be devised. The paragrapher has inherited all the jester's privileges, neither more nor fewer, and exactly the same set of expectations are put upon him.

The freer his speech to the sov ereign lord, the closer and shrewder his approach to the plain, natural truth of things, the more he is appreciated and applauded. The wider his experience of human nature and the closer his interpretations come to the risidual common sense of man the risidual common sense of man kind, the more firmly, by common consent, he is fixed in his job. The more profound and subversive his implications, the stronger his position at the republican sovereign's court.

Moreover, there is no one to contest or to share his privileges; he is a or to share his privileges; he is a unique figure in a unique function. If the prophet, the publicist, the professor, lecturer, or so-called public servant undertook to assume his liberties and prerogatives he would at once come to grief in an avalanche of general disapproval.

The Old Newton Corner Fire Station ---and the New

One of the most unusual situations in years as regards city affairs is that which concerns the proposed location of the new fire house for Engine 1 and Ladder 3 at Newton Corner. These two pieces of apparatus are housed in an old building located on Washington street just east of Nonantum square. This building when it was erected about 70 years ago, in the days of "hand-tubs" was considered so extravagantly imposing for the little town, of that time, that it almost caused the then Newton to become divided; the west portion of the town threatening to separate.

The transition of Newton Corner

west portion of the town threatening to separate.

The transition of Newton Corner from a thinly to a thickly settled suburb, and the growth of Nonantum square into a heavily travelled business section, long ago made the present location of the fire house there impracticable. The large cars of the Boston Elevated pass every couple of minutes in front of the fire house making egress for the fire engine hazardous. Matters were further complicated when the huge aerial ladder truck was assigned to this station in 1926. This truck measures 57 feet over all and it is a very difficult matter to drive it out from the house when an alarm comes. Washington street, at this point is just about as wide from curb to curb as the truck is long, so it is a ticklish job to navigate the huge apparatus out of the building.

Over 20 years ago agitation started

Churches Not Always
of Steel and Stone

A missionary to the Arctic regions recently found the world's queerest church. This stands on Blacklead island, Cumberland sound, and is constructed entirely of sealskins, wood and other building material not being available, the missionary responsible for its erection sewed the skins together and stretched them over whalebone "girders."

Another missionary once built a church of snow, with seats, altar and pulpit complete. He stated that his snow-built edifice was warmer than most churches he had visited in other countries.

It is a tecknish jou to havigate the huge apparatus out of the building.
Over 20 years ago agitation started for a new fire station at Newton Corner. The building was antiquated and the location unsuitable. Various places were mentioned as sites for a new house, but nothing was adone. When the Boston & Albany tracks were low-ered and Washington street widened about 30 years ago, the large old wood and other building, formerly the Channing Church, and later the armory for company C of the 5th Regiment, M. V. M., was moved at right angles from to Washington street. This building during the years it was used as an armory, was also the most popularly used hall in the city for dances and public entertainments.

Until the beginning of this century, part of the building was antiquated and the location unsuitable. Various places snow-built edifice was warmer than most churches he had visited in other countries.

Among cathedrals, probably the most curious is to be found in Uganda Viewed from a distance, it looks like a giant haystack, but at close quarters it is seen to be built of grass and mud. This strange building seats 4.

Skunk Warns Thrice

The skunk is a sportsman and gives an opponent three warnings. If he meets you he will not turn out, but will stamp on the ground with his forepaws like a little horse. That is danger signal number one, says Nature Magazine. If you keep on coming he will shake his head sadly as if saying to himself. "There's going to be trouble," and will thereupon hoist aloft his resplendent tail. That is signal number two. If rushing on your doom you will advance, the drooping white tip of said tail will be slowly erected. That is the third and last warning. If then you stand still or slowly draw back, all will yet be well. One step forward will cost one suit of clothes.

Following the dinner, Commander Mick of Charles Ward Post thanked those who had assisted in the observance of the day. Wilfred A. Wetherbee, Assistant Adjutant General of the G. A. R. in Massachusetts, acting as master of ceremonies, introduced Mayor Childs as the first speaker. The Mayor said, in part, "We don't deserve special credit for honoring those who saved this nation. We receive more inspiration by properly observing Memorial Day and honoring the veterans of the Civil War than we would have gotten by going to a baseball game or to the golf links." The Mayor commented that those who participated in the parade had a good influence on the many children who had gathered along the line of march by the example they showed in according honor to the few remaining veterans.

ing honor to the few remaining veterans.

Representative Arthur Hollis lauded the fact that for 60 years not a comrade's grave in Newton has been undecorated on a Memorial Day by members of the G. A. R. He asserted that "the Civil War was the most glorious period in American history." Sinclair Weeks, president of the Board of Aldermen, urged that people should devote one day in the year, Memorial Day, in honoring those who had departed. Past Commander Julius Ramm of Newton Legion Post, and Commander Meehan of the Spanish War Veterans, pledged to the G. A. R. that these younger organizations will carry on the observance of Memorial Day. Commander Donald Hill of Newton Post, American Legion, remarked that "Newton is one of the few cities in this state which has not erected a fitting memorial to those who have participated in the wars waged by this country." He hoped that plans for a suitable memorial in Newton will have been completed in 1930 when the Tercentenary Anniversary will be observed. CELEBRATES FIRST MASS.

An example of the desire of Newton's Representatives in the Legislae ture to guard the city's interests is shown by the action of the General Court this week in a bill to extend the Metropolitan sewer district into Norwood, Stoughton, Canton and Sharnon. On the face of it the bill would not seem to affect Newton but our Representatives and City Solicitor Joseph W. Bartlett, who also watches everything that goes on at the State House, realized that the extension of the sewer to these towns would mean a jump in the Metropolitan District Tax. This would be passed along to the Newton taxpayer who might find that the city's fax rate had been in-

OUR SOLDIER BOYS

(Thoughts on attending the services at Soldiers' Monument, Newton, on Memorial Day—Ddicated to Charles Ward, who was killed at Gettysburg, 1863, aged 21 yrs.)

Our soldier boys, so young and brave You gave your lives away! And in your honor, old and young Are gathered here, today.

You threw aside your cherished plans Your rich and happy life, To march the long and weary miles— To join the hell of strife!

And on the far-off battle-field, You fell, at duty's call— We sometimes taste of sacrifice But you gave up your all!

Yet, not in vain, oh, not in vain, Did you and millions die— You fought for freedom and for right You held truth's banner high.

For you this solemn funeral march— For you these flowers fair To speak of you, these bugle notes Sound on the soft, spring air.

For you, this marching column winds-These veterans grown grey— These splendid youths, in khaki, clad, Who bade the war lord stay.

Like warrior saints of other days, Who paths of danger trod, You slew the dragon, Tyranny, You fought, and won, for God.

Were you but here, these later days, When Peace hath victories, You'd join the ranks of those who fight To vanquish enmities.

(The above poem was written by Miss Katherine Louise Ward, of Brookline, a niece of Charles Ward.)

BOY SCOUTS AS TRAFFIC OFFICERS

Monday evening, at the office of the Superintendent of Schools, there will be a hearing, open to the public to discuss the offer of Norumbega Council Boy Scouts to provide scouts for traffic duty outside of school buildings when the children are coming to and going home from school. The hearing will be conducted by a sub-committee of the School Committee. The sub-committee has conferred with Chief of Police Burke on this matter and while the chief has, in the past, been opposed to the use of boys for traffic duty, he has agreed to abide by the wishes of the parents of the scouts and school pupils in this matter.

it in either Newton Centre or Newton Highlands.

The vote was taken after considerable discussion was held on the question brought up by Committeeman Joseph F. Lockett, who called attention to the fact that the new John Ward school which is to open in September will not relieve the present congestion in the Mason district materially. He also told of the agitation many residents have made for representation in the junior high school system in both Newton Centre and Newton Highlands. The land on Paul street owned by the city is regarded as a logical site for such a school. The committee to make the survey was instructed to bring its report before the October meeting.

John Casey, 9, of Roberts street, Brookline, was arrested Monday night by Patrolman Hammell charged with driving without proper lights and without having his license and registration in his possession. In the Newton court Tuesday Casey was fined $10 for driving without proper lights. The other two charges were placed on file.

the trio—Joseph Kaplan, John M. Kennedy and Chester Kinsey, $10, for court costs. Their cases were placed on file. Gasper Vesozo was found guilty of speeding and fined $10. Lebrade Generazio, charged with speeding had his case placed on file and did not have to pay any court costs. But, as Lebrade had an attorney, perhaps he had to dig down at least as deep as the other alleged speeders.

In court Tuesday Douglas Walsh of Medford street, Somervile, was tried for cheating the Newton Savings Bank out of $150. He was given a suspended sentence of three months to the House of Correction on the agreement that he re-imburse the bank. He was accused of presenting a worthless check to the bank. According to testimony he went to the savings institution and endeavored to obtain a loan of $400, tendering a stock certificate as security. Failing to get the loan he then gave a check for $150 which was later found to be worthless. Inspector Good started on Walsh's trial, and Monday night a Boston police inspector, knowing that the man was wanted, took him into custody when he happened upon him and turned him over to the Newton detective.

John Sacco of Roxbury, arrested after a long chase at Oak Hill last week by Patrolman Hammell, during which the policeman fired several shots, was found not guilty of larceny of an automobile in the Newton court yesterday. Hammell testified he discovered Sacco and another man, who escaped, stripping a car on Dedham street. The pair fied as Hammell approached them. Louis Chiacco, owner of the car which was being "stripped" testified he gave Sacco permission to take it, and that no larceny had been committed. Sacco was fined $10 for driving without a license. Scottish Capital Has Long Been Royal City Edinburgh is rightly proud of its long history, but it would be difficult to say exactly when that history began. The castle rock doubtless commended itself as a desirable defensive position to the early Britons, and one may enter upon a wide field of con-jecture as to why they gave it its first name of Mynyd Agned; signifying the "painted mound," in what must have been a dim and misty past even to the Gaels, who later Christened It Dune-

The oldest form of its present name in 1128, and authentic history prior to that date is lacking, according to a writer in the Weekly Scotsman. Ac-cording to Simeon of Durham the buildings on the hill in the Ninth century, apart from the castle, consti-tuted only a small village; and it was not till 1093 when, on the death of Malcolm Ceanmor, it became the place of refuge of Queen Margaret that Edinburgh emerged from obscurity.

In succeeding centuries its strategic position and its royal associations in creased its importance, and David I referred to it as "meo burgo de Ed-winesburgh," but it was in 1329 that it was formally constituted a royal burgh by a charter of Robert the

Woman's Beauty Seen as Great Influence

It is woman's business to be beau-tiful. Her outward beauty is the to-ken and symbol of all that makes life worth living; and, if her inner self should belie her exterior, she fills men with cynicism, renders them fierce and brutal and drives them to despair.

The beauty of woman is a tremendously powerful influence, and, like all great forces, it may serve base or noble purposes. The mischief is that this great influence is given to young women at an age when they cannot understand its power and gravity of the responsibility that goes with it.

Woman in general will always expose as much of herself as the taste of men will permit her to do. There is no harm in this. But beware lest you make yourself a martyr in the sacred cause of woman's freedom. . . . Immodesty consists in going a little beyond the custom. If it is customary to expose three inches do not expossix. If it is customary to expose your shoulder blades do not expose the small of your back.—From "Character and the Conduct of Life," by Prof. William McDougall.

Cold Light

When the current of a Ruhmkorf induction coil is passed through a glass tube in a vacuum the tube glows with a brilliant light. This is the light of the future. Hitherto it has not been possible to produce light without producing heat. But recently an improved form of the Geissler tube has been produced which has it is claimed, overcome this difficulty. The light of the future will glow through long transparent tubes of all sizes and calibers, able to take the most varied directions and to run horizontally vertically or obliquely, forming stars rosettes, spirals, arabesques, etc.

The tubes radiate a diffused glow from end to end. The effect is a splen did, intense lunar light.

THE WINNING LETTER

It is surprising at the number of people who enter The Hubbard Drug Co.'s store at 425 Centre street, opposite the Public Library, at Newton Corner each day. Although I have purchased goods at this store for eighteen years, I have been told prescriptions have been compounded here for more than forty years. A goodly number of Doctors recommend prescriptions be filled at this place. The reason for this no doubt, is courteous treatment, best material, and accuracy. No wonder this dependable store has such a good name. They never substitute. There are eight employees, four of whom are registered. The permit comes from the Board of Registration in Pharmacy, It seems to me that no other Pharmacy can be more deserving to be called "Newton's Prescription Pharmacy."

Harvard Defeats Yale in Tennis Harvard Defeats Yale in Tennis
Harvard defeated Yale on the tennis courts last Saturday seven matches to two after a stubborn fight which was much closer than the score shows. The matches were played on the Longwood covered courts when the heavy rain made it impossible to play at Harvard. Malcolm Hill, local youth on the Crimson team, won his singles match in straight sets, 6—1, 6—0, and then teamed up with Captain Whitbeck to capture the doubles 7—5, 6—2. Two of the singles matches went to Harvard players after they lost the first set to their opponents.

TO INCREASE WATER SUPPLY

Another important step in the improvement of Newton's water supply was taken yesterday morning when bids were opened from contractors who submitted figures for the work which will shortly start at the water reservation on the Needham side of the Charles River. The contract will call for the removal of surface loam from two depressions on the reservation, one of which forms a large bowl shaped declivity. Into these depressions after the soil has been removed until the underlying sand and gravel has been reached, millions of gallons of water will be pumped from the work being done for gravel and sand this water will filter into the supply wells. It is planned to build another large supply well in the near future. The bidders and bids are—McDonald Construction Company, $9500; Peter Salvucci, $13,500; Reynolds Bros., $13,500; J. B. Delaney & Son, $14,400; James Chesranone & Son, $10,100. The Board of Aldermen appropriated $14,000 for this work.

the very heart of the city, which compose the Newton Cemetery.

Over seventy years ago, our forefathers realizing that the existing church yard burial grounds would soon become inadequate for the needs of the town, formed the Newton Cemetery corporation, the exact date being April 5, 1855. About thirty acres of land were first purchased with an entrance through what is now known as Cemetery avenue, off Homer street, the present Walnut street being unconstructed at that time. A portion of land purchased was owned by the father of the late Rev. James Freeman Clarke and on it was an old morocco factory owned by him. The name of Grove Hill Cemetery was first selected when the project was suggested but changed to its present name when the corporation was organized. Dr. Henry Bigelow, for whom the Bigelow

"The place of death is no longer in our eyes, a place of gloom, desertion and sorrow, at the bare idea of which we shudder with horror and dismay. It is an agreeable resting place to which we retire at the close of life, still to be visited and gazed upon and cared for by those we hold dear."

The above quotation from some unknown author, aptly describes the Newton Cemetery. It is very doubtful, if all of our citizens are aware of the natural beauty and loveliness of the one hundred and fitteen acres, in the very heart of the city, which compose the Newton Cemetery.

The cemetery was consecrated June 10, 1857, after passing through a trying financial experience. The exercises included an historical address by Dr. Bigelow, original hymns by Mr. S. Jennison, Jr., and Rev. Samuel F. Smith and an address by Rev. Mr. Huntington of Cambridge.

The Soldiers monument was authorized by the town in 1863 and the total expense of about $5200 was partially raised by 1100 school children who gave a dime apiece and popular subscriptions of $1.00 each, by which about $1200 was raised. The monument is a shaft of Quincy granite, 28 feet in height and was dedicated July 23, 1864. It was the second Soldiers monument to be erected in the state. On the same lot is a tablet containing the names of soldiers from Newton killed during the Civil War.

The beautiful cnapel given by the late John S. Farlow, and endowed with a gift of $10,000 from his children, is a memorial to Dr. Bigelow, It is a heavy Gothic structure with open timber ceiling and terra cotta tiling dado. At the side and opening into the chapel is the conservatory filled with tropical and flowering shrubs artistically arranged in rockeries and flowing water. The chapel contains a tablet in memory of Dr. Bigelow and a bronze memorial of Mr. Farlow. It was dedicated Sept. 26, 1885.

A receiving tomb was erected by the town in 1881, but was removed in 1885 to make room for the memorial chapel and the present tomb built at the joint expense of the city and Cemetery.

throughout Greater Bostton, the New ton quot of $28,908.00 still lacks $22,667.65 of completion. Contributions totaling $6,240.35 have been received to date.

This last nationwide effort, of which the raising of the Newton quota is a part, will clear the way for the final and honorable discharge of America's responsibility in the Near East. Two years more will see the closing of the many orphanages which have housed in the last twelve years, more than one hundred thousand persecuted and helpless children. A certain amount of necessary follow-up work with the boys and girls just starting out in life and suitable provision for those unable to earn a living for themselves are included in the budget which this last drive will make possible. In general, however, when orphanages, trade schools and outplacement centers shut their doors, they will send into the world a generation of young people not only physically and morally healthy, but trained for self-support and independent living.

Moreover, not only have the children been prepared for life in their community, but their community, but

On June 11th twelve hundred and fifty British Congregationalists land in Boston. They are coming as a good-will delegation, strengthening the ties which bind American and British Congregationalists.

One of their number who is one of their greatest preachers, Rev. Dr. Albert Peel, Editor of "The British Congregational Quarterly," formerly a very successful pastor in one of our great London Churches, has been in America for several weeks, preaching from our great pupils East and West. On June 3rd the residents of Newton will have an opportunity to hear Dr. Peel at the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville. He is to occupy the Central Church pulpit while its minister, Dr. Ellis is in Providence, Rhode Island, preaching the Baccalaureate Sermon for the Moses Brown School.

The annual Dramatics of the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club, an event always looked forward to, added one more triumph to the list of successes. The play, "A Regiment of two, under the capable direction of Miss Marion D. Bassett, was witnessed by a capacity audience on Monday evening, May 21st, in Emerson School Hall. The play, indeed, proved a comedy, with many "laughs" for the players, as well as for the audience, and each member of the cast was so excellent that each scene was received with ovation.

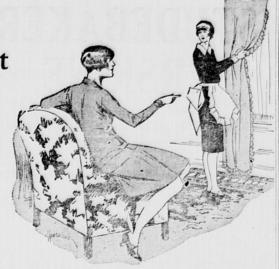

The entire action of the play took place in the drawing-room of the Sewall residence, New York City. Act II was entitled "In Time of Peace Prepare for War". Act II, "Behold the Conquering Heroes Come." The music between the acts was rendered in a very pleasing manner by Miss Irene Forte, violinist; Miss Ruth Masters, 'cellist; and Miss Agnes Olson, pianist. The Girl Scouts of Troop 7 assisted with the candy.

In court Monday Augustus Bullock of Cedar street, Worcester, was charged with driving while under the influence of liquor and his case continued until June 4. He was arrested Saturday night by Patrolmen Kilmain and Carroll. In court charged with a similar offence was Frank Lee of 228 Chestnut street, Needham, arrested Sunday by Motorcycle Officer Goddard. He will be tried June 4.

Five members of the "rising generation," three young ladies and two young gentlemen, were each fined $20 by Judge Bacon in the Newton court last Friday. They composed members of a quintet arrested in the wee hours of that morning by Patrolman Frank Feeley following telephone complaints sent by residents of the Farlow Hill district to Police Headquarters. The complaining residents told "headquarters" that they had been aroused from their slumbers by the hilarious conduct of occupants of an automobile and trailed the disturbers, catching up with their conveyance, a laundry

Paul Bloomfield of 496 Commonwealth avenue was fined $10 by Judge Bacon on Friday for speeding; John Intinarelli of Valentine street, Cambridge, was fined $25 for a like offence. George Morrison, 16, of Stearns street, Brookline, charged with not having proper lights on his automobile, had his case placed on file.

HEALTH PROGRAM

The late Robert J. Ingersoll said The late Kobert J. ligerson said that if he were to make a world, he would make health contagious in-stead of disease. Essentially that very thing has been accomplished in this city—at least, if health has not been made exactly contagious, it has been city—at least, if health has not been made popular!

I wonder how many of us, citizens to Newton, realize how great a debt we owe to our Asst. Supt. of Schools, Miss Bragg, who has conceived and so nobly executed that splendid health program which is known and adopted all over the country.

It was my privilege to attend the Health Day exercises at the Levi Warren Junior High School last Friday and I heartily wish that every citizen of Newton had been present to witness that splendid demonstration of what the vision of Miss Bragg, with the cordial co-operation of the teacher and the enthusiastic effort of the children themselves is giving to our city in the promise of sturdy citizens for the future. A thrilling sight was that procession of 619 boys and girls, 57% of them perfect—not good, but perfect in the essential points of health!

The Posture Tag means: "I keep my Head erect, Chin in, Chest out, Abdomen in. I walk, sit, stand, straight."

Although the children have known for many months that Health Day was coming, great efforts have been made in the last eight weeks to earn the jtags.

Child Health Day is Health Recog-nition Day, a recognition of all the splendid work that has been done by the parents and teachers, nurses, doc-tors and dentists of Newton for the children of Newton. Newton has a right to be proud of the excellent work that has been accomplished and the beautiful physical condition of the great majority of her children.

NEWTON CHORAL SOCIETY

The executive committee of the Newton Choral Society met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Laura Hudson on Foster street, to plan for the work of the coming season. The president was authorized to send out a query to the members of the society asking how many will be able to resume the work in the fall. Also former members of the society will be invited to return. Arrangements will be made to invite a list of about 100 Waltham singers to join, and it is hoped to obtain quite a number from that city.

At the recent annual meeting of the society, the following officers were elected: President, Mrs Fred L. Smith; vice-president, Miss Ethel L. Spencer: treasurer, Mrs. Laura W. Hudson; librarian, Miss Dorothy Pray; secretary, Miss Theresa L. Cram; executive committee, Messus, Fred C. Alexander, Edward L. Bacon, Royal M. Frye, M. J. Kenney, Edward K. Titus, Frederick W. Yelland.

There was considerable discussion as to the advisability of requiring candidates for admission to take a candidates for admission to take a simple vocal test before entering. There was some feeling that the society has always been of the nature of a community affair, which was open to all singers who loved music. But it was pointed out that to conduct the society without any vocal test makes more work for the musical director, so that it becomes more difficult to secure competent leadership for the society. It was argued that applying such a test would add to the prestige of the society, and constitute a special perfect in the essential points of health!

I have no children to benefit by the Newton Schools. I am not a teacher nor in any way associated with the school system. But, as a property owner, I consider that my best investment in that portion of my tax account which is spent for the schools for it is through healthy, educated citizens that Newton is to grow and way strong.

The descriptive paragraph on the program of the exercises of the Warren School expresses my thought:

"As Youth stands facing the future Spirits bring to her their gifts of Purity and Unselfishness, Courage and Self-respect, Wisdom and Service, Health and Happiness. Youth lays these three gifts at the feet of Newton who accepts their offering and presents her Youth to America."

Let us honor and cherish the Youth of Newton—and appreciate these who are leading them into citizenship.

The street crossings, parking stalls and other spaces on the highways which are defined by white painted lines must have these lines re-painted frequently. Street Commissioner Stuart intended to place two extra men at work painting these aids to traffic. Other cities use orange paint instead of white, as it is claimed that orange remains distinct longer than white.

New street signs were placed on Centre avenue (formerly Centre place) yesterday morning. Our attention was almost immediately called to the fact that the signs placed near our office read Center avenue—and Center street. The party calling our attention to this way of spelling the names of the streets is a business man upon whose door and stationery the name of the street is spelled Centre. This is the way the City of Newton has always spelled this street.

Aldermen Appropriate $12,760 For New School Site in Newtonville

Land Taken For This Purpose on Cabot St., Bridges Ave. and Parkview Ave. Over Protest by Alderman Powers

After about two years of discussion, the site for the new school at Newton-ville was finally definitely decided upon at the meeting of the Aldermen on Monday night when $12,760 was appropriated from the tax levy for the taking of a dwelling and 14 lots of land on Cabot street, Parkview avenue, and Bridges avenue Newtonville. nue, and Bridges avenue, Newtonville.

when this matter came before the Board at its meeting, Alderman Powers called attention to the fact that the site proposed to be taken for the new school is—in large part, low and wet. He reminded the Board that three of the last four schools built in Newton have been located on sites where the proximity of procks or wewton nave been located on sites where the proximity of brooks or moist soil has necessitated the expen-diture of large sums of money for the diversion or lowering of brooks or the draining of nearby land.

diversion or lowering of brooks or the draining of nearby land.

Among such locations specified by him were those of the new high school building at Newtonville, the Levi Warren Junior High at West Newton and the John Ward School at Chestnut Hill. The new High School is built close to Laundry Brook which had to be diverted and lowered because of the erection of this school. The Levi Warren School site at West Newton necessitated the lowering of Cheesecake Brook, nearby. The John Ward School, erected in a hollow off Ward street, necessitated the building of a large drain because the surrounding land is composed of hard clay which heretofore had caused large pools of water to form on its surface at certain seasons of the year. The land to be used for the playground at this school occasions drainage problems.

He stated that no test borings had heen made on the proposed school

He stated that no test borings had been made on the proposed school site, and questioned the wisdom of taking it when undeveloped land located high and dry can be obtained. He said that "it had been his intention to have this matter referred back to the Public Works and Finance committees for further consideration, but Alderman Collins, chairman of the Finance Committee, stated that a num Finance Committee, stated that a number of different committees including the joint committee on new school buildings (composed of aldermen and school committee and the Finance Committee—have for many months been carefully considering this matter. A number of different sites at Newtonville have received careful scrutiny and although the site chosen is far from an ideal one, it is the best that can be obtained without incurring too much expense. He remarked that he was not opposed to postponing action on the appropriation if any member of the Board desired to have it referred back to the committee, but he would regret to see this done as such action would seriously delay progress on the relief of the serious overcrowding of the schools in the Claffin district. ber of different committees including the joint committee on new school district.

Alderman Heathcote said that "the remarks of the Alderman from Ward 1 should receive careful consideration." He scored the action of the previous Board which voted to purchase the site where the Levi Warren Junior School had been erected at West Newton and asserted that although the initial cost of purchasing th Atkinson property at the corner of Washington street and Commonwealth avenue might have been more than the cost of the site chosen, the cost of lowering he site chosen, the cost of lowering Cheesecake Brook and filling in the and at the Levi Warren School grounds will make this a much more costly investment by the city than the other site would have been.

Alderman Fitts said that "while the land where the new Newtonville school will be built is low and water may be encountered there this fact will cause no serious problem in the erection of the building, nor will it incur any appreciable added expense. The present practice in the erection of school buildings is not to build deep basements and no part of the base. of school buildings is not to build deep basements and no part of the basement would be over several feet below the ground except the boiler-room. Many buildings in Boston, including the Harvard Club are well below tide level, but because of efficient water-proofing no difficulties had been experienced through water seeping into the cellars of these buildings." Newton High Baseball Team Wins League Title Despite Graduate Rule

Everett's Defeat by Cambridge Gives Newton League Championship—Good Sportsmanship Displayed

All's well that end's well. The 1928 Athletic Association it was made for a just claim after running up a string of thirteen consecutive victories.

If Everett had tied Newton for the title it is not presumptuous to assume, in view of Newton's strict rule against post season games, which in this case it seems as though the bars should have been let down in justice to the boys on the team, that claims to the title would have been forfeited and Everett would have been forfeited and Everett would have been forfeited and beyon the team that claims to the title would have been forfeited and Everett would have been forfeited and Sevent would have been forfeited and Everett down on more can be said on that subject. Newton, with eight wins and two losses tops all the other members of the league. Three games remain to be played among the other teams, Rindge and Somerville this afternoon at Russell field, while Cambridge Latin and Brookline are playing at Brookline. Everett and Somerville are tied in season on Monday at Everett. At present Everett and Somerville are tied in second place with records of six wins and three losses each, Brookline follows with two victories and five defeats, Rindge has won two and dropped six and the cellar Cantabs, who are in a new and unaccustomed position in the race for which they are usually among the title contenders, have won two and lost seven.

By a curious coincidence the only two victories won by the Cantabs, were over Everett. A year ago last fall in football Cambridge unexpectedly defeated Everett and caused a tie the coard and shows the kind of coaching now being given at Newton high in athletics that every lad on the squad was in agreement with two victories won by the Cantabs were over Everett. A year ago last fall in football Cambridge unexpectedly defeated Everett and caused at its content of the coach sullivar's decision, despite the fact, that it was hoot being the account of the coach sullivar'

By a curious coincidence the only wo victories won by the Cantabs ere over Everett. A year ago last all in football Cambridge unexpectedly defeated Everett and caused a tie for the title between the Gildea coached eleven and the Brookline team. In a post-season game at Braves field the Brookline team caught Everett unprepared and won. In baseball two years ago, Newton, Cambridge and Everett were in a triple tie for the title. Newton's rule against playoff games caused them to forfeit all claim to the title and the other two teams fought it out with Coach MacDonald's nine grabbing the bunting. Last winter Everett ran up a long string of victories in basketball only to have Captain Davis and his mates defeated Everett and caused a tie down by the late Allie Dickinson and Severett were in a triple tie for the title. Newton's rule against playoff games caused them to forfeit all claim to the title and the other two teams fought it out with Coach MacDonald's nine grabbing the bunting. Last winter Everett ran up a long string of victories in basketball only to have Captain Davis and his mates of Cambridge Latin stop their winning streak.

Yesterday Cambridge had one big inning which was sufficient to down Everett. In the sixth Hilliard hit a home run over the extreme centre-field fence, said to be the longest hit ever made at the Everett field, to start the rully. Captain Davis singled and McFagden reached first on the shortstop's error. Davis counted in Pagluccia's willd throw to second and Brackett singled to score McFagden. In the fourth Cambridge started the scoring on Davis' triple and Brackett's single.

Everett counted its two runs in the seventh. Baldwin opened with a two base hit, Ward drew a pass and Paglucia doubled, scoring the two runners.

But the entire situation might not have been so ludicrous had it not been for the absurd interpretation of the rule against graduates. When the rule was made by the Mass. High School

All's well that end's well. The 1928
Suburban league baseball title was won by Newton high despite the turmoil caused by the rule prohibiting seniors from playing on the school nines as soon as they had accepted their diplomas and despite the fact that Newton lost to Everett on Monday and to Somerville, in a seniorless game yesterday. These two defeats made it possible for Everett to tie the orange and black by winning both of its games, that with Cambridge Latin yesterday and the one next Monday with Brookline. But Cambridge Latin, which holds a potent finx over Everett in every branch of sport, upset all predictions again and topped Coach Gildea's outfit 4 to 2 on Everett's field. So Newton wins the bunting to which everyone feels they have a just claim after running up a string of thirteen consecutive victories.

If Everett had tied Newton for the title it is not presumptuous to assume.

the squad was in agreement with Coach Sullivan's decision, despite the to swallow. It was an act of good sportsmanship on the part of every one concerned in Newton athletics that augurs well for the future and reminds one of the inherent principles laid down by the late Allie Dickinson and so faithfully being carried out by the present coaches.

Hill And Whitbeck State Champs Malcolm Hill and his partner Brain-erd Whitbeck, Harvard varsity numerd Whitbeck, Harvard varsity number one doubles team of which the latter is captain, won the Massachusetts tennis doubles title at the Newton Centre Squash Tennis Club Saturday afternoon, defeating Abbot and Weld in a five-set match 6-4, 3-6, 11-13, 6-2, 6-3. At the end of the first set Abbot and Weld seemed the probable winners as they had an edge on their rivals but in the final two sets they offered little resistance to the Harvard pair who reversed their style of play from lobbing to hard driving. It was the third set which, perhaps, decided the outcome of the match. This set went to Abbot and Weld after a hard struggle the winning of which took most of their energy. Twice the set was at set-point, first when Abbot and Weld had the edge 5 to 3 and later when Hill and Whitbeck were in the lead 11 to 19. At this stage Hill lost his service game and Abbot and Weld took the next two for the set. Up to that time Hill's service had been working faultlessly and after the lapse he gathered himself together to play excellent tennis until the finish. It was his renewed efforts that counted most in the final surge of the Crimson players that brought them victory in the final two sets.

SOMERVILLE 8, NEWTON 0

Because of the interpretation of the M. H. S. A. A. rule barring the sentor players of the Newton high and Somerville high school baseball teams from representing their school immediately after they had received their diplomas caused turnoil in the school boy ranks the past week. Somerville high held its graduation exercises on Monday of this week and therefore was obliged to send a team of sophomores and juniors against the Newton high team yesterday. While Newton does not hold its graduation until this afternoon Coach 'Sullivan decided not to use his regular team against the weakened Dickerman coached nine and presented a line-up which was far unlike the outfit that ran up a string of thirteen straight victories before bowing to Everett last Monday. The score of yesterday's game between the two so-called school teams was Somerville 8, Newton 0. A weird second inning in which Somerville talled five runs and a home run smash by Graham with two on bases in the seventh accounting for the eight runs scored.

Bill Reilly was on the mound for Newton and while not twirling as good ball as he has most of the season might have got by had his teammates had the experience to hold off Somerville. After Graham's circuit clout which went over the fence into Alewife Brook, Nichols, a pitcher on the intermediate varsity squad, took up the burden and performed creditably, fanning the next two batters in the seventh to complete the inning and retiring Somerville in order in the eighth.

In the last of the opening inning Murphy, who pitched well for Somilard Scott is another player who and whithout its two the participating he would have played well through the tourney but the graduate rule must be lived up to although it means his loss, Norman Payne, captain-elect of basketball, will play number 1 on Sasketball, will play numbe eighth.

In the last of the opening inning Murphy, who pitched well for Somerville, singled and Escott, another regular also singled, sending Murphy to third. Escott stole second, Andres not risking a throw. Graham grounded to Fletcher, playing first base, and he tagged the base, retiring Graham. He then threw to Scheinfain, playing short stop in an attempt to trap Escott between second and third. With the throw Murphy broke for the plate and by a perfect peg Scheinfain and Andres completed a double play.

In the second inning Somerville broke loose. With one down Ball.

Melius Named Manager
Edward G. Mellus of Newton has been appointed manager of the base-ball team at Country Day school for next season. Ladd MacMillian of Boston has been elected captain of the 1929 team. The past season was his first on the team and he clinched the regular catching berth. He succeeds Frank White the pitcher as leader. In addition to MacMillian and White those awarded letters recently were Bottomley, Gleason, Ritchie, Douglass, Kerns, Crosby Greene, Jr., Robinson, Brickley and Manager Young.

Last Tuesday morning, May 29, we ame to school to find a very much dressed up faculty. We soon discovered that it was all on account of a faculty tea to be given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Carr by the "When You Entertain" Club at the home of Mrs. Sandwall at 45 Eliot avenue, West Newton. Shortly after three o'clock, the guests began to arrive and soon all thoughts of the school room disappeared over delicious cups of tea. Marilyn Tainter and Doria Peek acted as host and hostess and received in line with the guests of honor. Althea Sawyer, Frances Dolyns, Camella Tocci, Louise Holmes and Elizabeth Reynolds served as ushers. In the dining room Florence Grethe and Marjorie Tower acted as pourers, while Faustina Doggett, Vinna Gaziano, Elizeanor Lamontague and Delia Laporte served. Those who helped to prepare the dainty refreshments were Annie Cardarelli, Lena Forte and Marie La Croix. The tea was in every way a social success and, besides giving pleasure to all the guests, gave excellent experience to all the girls of Mrs. Sandwall's club.

We cannot congratulate the people of Newtonville on the site selected for the proposed new school house. In fact we cannot congratulate the people of this city on the school house sites which have been selected during the past five years. The Levi F. The John Ward school is located in about as unsuitable a place as could be found, a long distance from the main street nearer the Boston line than necessary or desirable, and requiring considerable draining before construction was begun. DISCUSS TRAFFIC SIGNALS

A lengthy discussion on traffic signals was started at the meeting of the Aldermen on Monday night when Alderman Noone inquired regarding the signal which was supposed to have been installed some months ago at the intersection of Commonwealth avenue and Lexington street, Auburndale. Alderman Grebenstein, chairman of the Traffic Committee replied that "this light is expected to be installed in about two weeks." This signal is one of three ordered on February 27 from the General Electric Company, through the Edison Company. The other two signals are to be installed at Newton Centre and Newtonville squares. None of the three has yet been placed in position. Alderman Temperly inquired as to the traffic lights that were supposed to have been placed at street intersections in Ward 5 several months ago. Alderman Grebenstein referred him to the Chairman of the Finance Committee. Alderman Collins. The

The latter stated that his committee had appropriated money for traffic signals and cannot act further. Alderman Powers of the Traffic Committee said that he had been informed that because of objections by certain members of the Finance Committee, Mayor Childs had ordered a curtailment of purchases of Columbia Signals by the Street Department and this had caused the department to order General Elec-

HOLD UP FILLING STATION PERMIT.

HOLD UP FILLING STATION PERMIT

The petition of John W. Scott to establish a filling station in front of the Waban Garage at 1172 Beacon street, was held up by the Aldermen on Monday and referred back to the Franchises and Licenses committee which had recommended that this petition be granted. Alderman Bail objected, stating—"If this petition is granted, the present Board will be doing something never done before in this city—granting a permit for a filling station to be operated within a few feet of another station, both stations operated by the same person." Alderman Heathcote also objected. He stated that when Herbert Swanson, who formerly owned the Waban Garage, applied a few years ago for a filling station on this same site, ex-Alderman Parker and Scott had opposed the petition and it had been refused.

Leverett Saltonstall of Chestnut Hill, one of Newton's representatives in the Legislature, has announced his candidacy for the office of Speaker of the House. He has an excellent charce of winning this office. He is finishing his sixth year as a member of the Legislature and prior to this service he was a member of the Newton Board of Aldermen for two years. Mr. Saltonstall is a democratic, serious young man who has made a strong impression on his colleagues at the State House. A member of a family famous in the annals of Massachusetts, he, unlike many scions of those prominent in early Colonial days, takes an active part in the political, business and social affairs of the community. The Saltonstalls were among the earliest settlers at Watertown and Salem. A branch of the family has resided at Chestnut Hill for about a century. His grandfather, Leverett Saltonstall, was Collector of the Port of Boston under President Cleveland. Hearings will be held at City Hall on June 20 on the petitions to widen Elmwood street at Centre street, Newton, and to allow unlimited parking at Newton Corner, in and around Nonantum Square, evenings after 7p. m., except on Saturday nights.

Youth Had No Choice

in Matter of Dress

A young Boston business man surprised his office associates the other day by coming in to work at the usual hour in the norning, wearing a full dress suit.

The evening before he had run out in his car to visit a friend in the country, and his friend had persuaded him to stay all night. At midnight he was escorted to the guest room, where palamas were laid out for him, and undressing and deposolating his clothes upon a chair, he went to bed.

The next morning, while he was taking a shower in the bathroom, granding and had persuaded him to stay all night. At midnight he was escorted to the guest room, where palams were laid out for him, and married daughter who lived nearby, respectively. He was escorted to the gue ing a shower in the bathroom, grand-ma, who had spent the night with a married daughter who lived nearby, and who didn't know that there was and who didn't know that there was company, energed the room and, seering the pile of clothing on the chair, supposed that it had been left by her son, and, finding that the sult was not in first-class condition, promptly sent it by a passing schoolboy to the tailor to be pressed and put the other garments in the wash.

And the full dress sult was the only one the host of the surprised young Boston business man had to lend.—

Malicious Justice

Certes, I have often been vexed to see fudges impudently making use of fraud and false hopes of pardon and favor to cozen a poor criminal into a confession of the fact alleged against him. It would become justice, and Plato himself, who countenances this manner of proceeding, to furnish me with other means more worthy of my approbation; this is a malicious justice, and I look upon it as no less violated by itself than by others.—

The Third Article About the Newton Cemetery Written Expressly for the Newton Graphic

"Lest We Forget"

These words of Kipling are surely unnecessary to residented this city, for the beauty and attractiveness of the Newton Cemetery are a consolation and a benediction to the tender memories of our loved ones who have gone before. This sentiment must have been impressed upon the hundreds of visitors who were present at the Memorial Day exercises of the Grand Army of the Republic, as well as on those whom sorrow had brought inther, for never in its history has the Cemetery been so beautiful as now. The Newton Cemetery is in itself the Civil War, whose valiant services were the first reason for establishing a special day in their honor not only to those who paid the "last full measure of devotion" in the other wars in which this country has been engaged, not only to the thousands of hearts which mourn the loss of loved members of their family, but is a memobers of their family, but is a memobers of their family, but is a memober of their work of the pace, the proposition of the cemetery of the pace, the proposition of the pace, the proposition of the pace, the proposition of the pa

One more was added last Friday night to the list of aged persons who have been hit during the past year while on their way to attend services at the Church of Our Lady, Newton. The latest victim was Miss Margaret Sutherland, 60, of 65 Bellevue street, Newton, who was struck while crossing Washington street by an automobile driven by Carleton Vantour of 92 Central street, Waltham. She was taken to the Newton Hospital where her name was placed on the dangerous list because of a possible fracture of the skull.

The postoffice at Newton does about three times as much business as any other postal station in this city. It has been in its present location over 20 years. The equipment there is antiquated, the accommodations for the employees quite inadequate. The entrance door to this postoffice has been unpainted for so many moons that it is covered with grease and grime. The lobby is shabby. While other postal stations in this city, doing much less business than the Newton postoffice have been moved into new, attractive, well equipped quarters during the past few years, the postal station at Newton Corner remains unimproved. Recently a number of bids were received for furnishing quarters on a 10 year lease for the Newton postoffice—the present lease being about to expire. It was supposed that one of these bids would be accepted, but such action has not resulted. The patrons of the Newton postoffice are entitled to be served in and from a modern postal station. The employees of the Newton postoffice are entitled to better working conditions. It is up to the postal officials to provide the long needed improvement.

visit the Watertown Arsenal where he became chummy with the commandant's son and later organized a troop of boy cadets who drilled there under the instruction of some of the regular near Park street, Newton Corner.

Speaking about "Newton Corner."
some years past residents of Wards 1 and 7 would resent any reference to their section of the city by this name.
The official designation of that part of the city was (and is) "Newton."
In colonial days around what is now known as "Nonantum square" was designated as "Angier's Corner." In 1731
Oakes Angier, son of Ephraim Angier of Watertown, purchased the estate of Samuel Jackson; this estate lying partly in Newton and partly over the Watertown line. Angier kept a public house near where the Nonantum Building now stands. In Colonial days taverns were referred to as "public houses." The term is still in use in the British Isles. For over 100 years the locality was known as "Angier's
Corner."

In 1834 the first section of the Woror boy cadets who drilled there under the instruction of some of the regular army sergeants. As "Hal" grew to young manhood, after serving as an officer in the old Newton High bat tallon under the late Col. George Ben he received an appointment to United States Marine Corps, and after serving some years in the Philippines and in China during the Boxer rebellion, he was retired because of disability incurred in this service. During the World War he was recalled and performed such duties as

Corner."

In 1834 the first section of the Worcester Railroad was built from Boston to West Newton. The station near "Angier's Corner" was named "Newton Corner," but later this was considered too rural sounding and it was changed to "Newton." In late years things rural have become fashionable, so oldtimers in Wards 1 and 7 now rather like to talk and hear about "Newton Corner." his health would permit.

Many along the line of march on Wednesday visualized the familiar features of the late John Flood, who for over two score years took a most prominent part in the Memorial Day activities in this city. John Flood was absent in the flesh, but he was surely present in spirit.

At the beginning of this year the Traffic Committee of the Board of Aldermen emphasized the need of street crossings and parking stalls being kept plainly defined by painted lines. The Street Department promised to keep such places conspicuously painted and purchased a painting machine for this purpose. The lines have not been kept plainly painted. The Street Department states that the continued rainy weather is responsible for this. Paint cannot dry in wet weather; so why paint? As soon as the rainy weather ends, it is probable that the street crossings, parking spaces and other places in the business sections of the city, will be kept clearly defined by white—or orange colored paint.

The postoffice at Newton does about three times as much business as any three times as much business as any content of the city will be kept clearly defined by white—or orange colored paint.

ever. It was her purpose that this church should endure, and that it should be the protection of her followers. Its constitution was framed by her and embedied in the Church Manual. Its periodicals were also each one of them founded and started by her, and in the midst of her labors she found time to write for them constantly. Meanwhile she was bringing out other books and organizing the Board of Lectureship. At the age of eighty-seven she moved her home Concord, New Hampshire, to Chestmut Hill, Massachusetts, and founded a great daily international newspaper, The Christian Science Monitor. She alone conceived the idea of this paper, gave the order for its inception, and contrary to the advice of many of her students, insisted on its speedy publication. She directed, counselled, defended, and governed the great movement she herself founded. No one could take her placed, though she tried hard to find someone capable of so doing. No one knew enough to do so, no one else was willing to make the sacrifice that was required, and so this "toller tireless" went on to the last week of her life on earth, laboring and achieving. She was always seeking for new ways to protect and promote the healing truth she had discovered. One who knew her well and saw her constantly said to me of her, "She was always thinking, thinking," To the last moment, her desk was the headquarters of the movement, and her authority was unchallenged, because in all she did she turned to God alone for guidance, and listened this voice.

I submit to you that her life was one of continuous achievement, and that she has left this inspiring example to her followers.

In summing up then, we find Christian Science to be the union of reason and revelation. It satisfies both the intellect and the affections; it shows cause and effect to be mental, and thus gives us the key to dominion; but above all, it shows us that we must learn to love, and in loving find ourselves to be the beloved. Such love is greater than mere human affection. is greater than mere human affection.

To like one and dislike another is personal sense. Love is that which includes all in its embrace, in whose light every object is transfigured. Let us labor to obtain this vision. In the words of the beloved disciple, "Let us love one another: for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God. He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love."

than was paid by private concerns for the same amount of labor.

As I see it the pension system has been started and cannot be stopped. It is therefore necessary to adopt as good and equitable an arrangement as can be brought about through legislation. The plan which Newton has decided upon and which it is now free to put into operation seems as near perfect as it can be made. Still, all those things have to be started and applied before a verdict can be reached. Theoretically, it reasons well and Newton should at least try it.

The value of any system lies in an equal distribution of the amount the city has set apart for annuities and pensions. An employe who has worked for years at a meagre wage should not be ruthlessly cut off from receiving some a just pension simply because the law does not seem to apply to that particular case. Let a law be drawn that applies to all cases, or let there be no law and therefore no discrimination. Let not a few be favored and others allowed nothing.

Nonantum Bank Closed - Former President Has Disappeared

Many Irate Italians Start a Run Which Was Checked Only By Action of Commissioner

Following financial difficulties made evident within the past several weeks, Amato Pescosolido, who for the past 18 years has conducted a bank at Nonantum, disappeared Friday night and is now being sought by the police as a result of complaints made by persons who entrusted money to him. Starting with a small private bank on Adams street, Mr. Pescosolido built up an apparently prosperous banking and investment business and enjoyed the utmost confidence of the Italian colony in Nonantum. He was one of the organizers of the Riverside Sand and Gravel Company at Newton Lower Falls, one of the largest concerns of this kind in New England. Last year he sold out his interest in this company, and with a partner purchased a large sand and gravel pit near the Newton Hospital. He was prominently identified with many investment enterprises in and about difficulties financial

Attractive Fete By Mothers Rest

Excellent Concert Program at Ligget Residence at Chestnut Hill

Mother Nature seemed to have a grudge against Lawn Fetes this past week, but she finally consented to show a kindly spirit on Thursday, June Sth. A postponed event, quite often, perhaps, does not meet with the same enthusiasm and cheer, as when prevalent that Mr. Pescosolido was in business difficulties, but so high was no being the held in the esteem of his associates and patrons that it was believed he were facing him. Last month things came to a crisis, partly as a result of were facing him. Last month things came to a crisis, partly as a result of the sale of the Union Market National Bank at Watertown to the Old Colony Trust Company. Mr. Pescosolido did business through the Watertown bank and the demand for a settlement of affairs revealed conditions that brought bank examiners to Nonantum to go over the books of the little bank there. On June 1 there was a meeting of about 40 of his creditors and as a result the bank passed out of his control and was organized as the Nonantum Bank, for the control and was organized as the Nonantum Bank, for the control and was organized as the Nonantum Bank, for the legal business responsibilities of the bank. According to the certificate of incorporation, the bank then had assets of $155.114.78; a capital stock of $28,000; deposits of $96,908.15, and a surplus of $5,075.08.

Last Saturday, when news of Pescosolido's departure became known, arm started on the bank and much. An enthusiastic audience showed Mother Nature seemed to have

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

Edited by WARREN K. BRIMBLECOM

ALL-SCHOLASTIC TEAMS PICKED

The end of the high school baseball season has again rolled around and with it all-scholastic choices. While many of these may not satisfy the personal opinion of sport followers it should be remembered that those who select them do not see all the school players in the field, or perhaps some they do see do not play with their usual ability during the game witnessed, and that in many cases they must rely upon coaches opinions and other methods. But suffice it to say that it is an honor to be chosen and not disgrace to be left out.

With Newton high running up a

With Newton high running up a string of thirteen straight victories before bowing to Everett in a 10-inning game and then losing to Somering game and then losing to Somerville with an inexperienced aggregation on the field due to the loss of seniors to the team, the orange and black become a contender for state honors, mythical as it may be. Boston English high school also had a team with a fine record but losing to Boston Latin on Monday robbed it of its claim to state honors. Everett, perhaps, may be justified in clamoring for state mention but it is hard to see how it can overlook the fact that it was defeated by Cambridge Latin in both of its league games with that school, with the Cantabs being defeated in every other league engagement.

With such a record it is not difficult to see why Newton wins several places on nearly every all-scholastic team chosen. The Boston Herald, with Tom McCabe, names Frank Spain as the only Newton player. Spain is chosen for the shortstop position and also awarded the captaincy of the nine. Commenting upon Spain's playing the writer says: "The honor of leadership goes to him because he can think. In our opinion the little fellow did more good things in his games this year than any other boy around. He is brilliant and takes chances. He has made errors but most of the errors he made were because he was not afraid to play the ball in an unorthodox way." McCabe had other good things to say about Spain's headwork. The Herald writer chose Ryan of Waltham over de-Mille of Newton for first base because the former has an edge in hitting on the lengthy Newton lad. Honorable mention was given to Reilly and Wilson, pitchers; Andres, catcher, and Fletcher, second base, among others. The Traveler, with Henry McKenna, selects first and a second team. Spain and Fletcher form the keystone pair on the first team and deMille is at first on the second team. McKenna also awards the first team captaincy to Spain for his ability to think. He writes, "Spain and Fletcher make up the classiest keystone sack combination we have seen in many years. They bave always been able to turn in several double plays in every game and thus silence the attack of the opponents. Spain is the class of the league and also the star at short. He has a rifle like arm and has scored more runs than any other Newton player. Fletcher hit them in the pinch and drove in the most runs of anyone on the squad. The Traveler gives honorable mention to Reilly, pitcher; Andres, catcher, and Gatchell, outfielder, among others.

The Transcrift departs from the ways of the other Boston papers to select an all-suburban league team. This team is a composite choice of the six coaches of the teams in the league. No coach votes for his own players and thus a total of five votes m

Coach John L. Sullivan named the

A. Wilson, 2 votes; and Phil Andres, I vote.

Coach John L. Sullivan named the following team for his choice: Murphy, Somerville, pitcher; Harlow, Camb. Latin, catcher; Donovan, Somerville, Ist base; Nyhan, Brookline, 2nd base; Cannon, Brookline, 3rd base; Cannon, Brookline, 3rd base; Cannon, Brookline, 3rd base; Cannon, Brookline, 1rd base; Cannon, Brookline, 1rd base; Cannon, Brookline, 1rd base; Cannon, Brookline, Sulpagone, Everett, cf; Davis, C. Latin, If; Burke, Rindge, rf.

Dennis Gildea, Everett Coach, selects deMille and Spain as the Newton players of his choice, as does Charles Dickerman, coach of Somerville. Wm. McLaughlin, Rindge coach, names Fletcher, Spain and Arthur Wilson on his team. Thomas Fitzgerald, Brookline coach, selects deMille, Spain and Fletcher while Coach Leander MacDonald of Cambridge Latin is the only coach to name four Newton players. Spain, deMille, Arthur Wilson and Andres all receive votes from the Cantab mentor, whose choice is confined to Newton, Everett and Somerville players with the exception of Nyhan of Brookline at second base. He names Murphy and Graham of Somerville and Dragone and Graffam of Everett, as his choices for the remaining positions.

The composite team thus announced by LeRoy Atkinson, School sports editor of the Transcript, lines up as follows: Murphy, Somerville, pitch; Harlow, Camb. Latin, catcher; deMille of Newton and Donovan of Somerville, 1st base; Nyhan, Brookline, 2nd base; Spain, Newton, ss; Dragone of Everett, Davis of Cambridge Latin, and Burke of Rindge, outfielders.

ELECT FLETCHER 1929 CAPTAIN

Alexander Fletcher has been elected to captain the 1929 base-ball team at Newton high. The election was held last Saturday night at a dinner given in honor of this year's Suburban league championship team by the parents of Spencer deMille, captain of this year's nine, at the deMille home in Newton Centre. Fletcher played second base during the past season and was chosen for the Traveler All-scholastic nine. He received honorable mention for his playing by practically all those who chose All-scholastic teams this season. Although not of very large stature, Fletcher could hit with the best of the players in school baseball and had an season's average of .429. He was an important cog in Coach Sullivan's team where he acted as the pivot on many double plays during the year. Whether he remains at the keystone sack another year depends on the material available. It is possible that Fletcher may be moved to first to fill a great gap caused by deMille's graduation.

MAKING GOOD IN EASTERN LEAGUE

John "Giggles" McLaughlin, former Newton Twi-league pitcher, has won a place on the pitching staff of the Waterbury "Brasscos" of the Eastern league. "Giggles" is well known in Newton by his pitching for the Saxony Mills team and the Highlands A. A. of the Twi-league circuit. He went to Waterbury's spring training camp but was sent home. For a time he expected to be sent to Attleboro of the New England league but Waterbury recalled him and he is taking his regular turn in the box for that club. Although he was beaten by Bridgeport recently in a 2 to 0 game, he will no doubt hang up a creditable number of victories this season. Local fans are scanning the Eastern league box scores with interest because of his connection with the "Brasscos."

Arthur Noble, ranking player, won his match to keep his slate in scholastic matches for the year clean although he lost his only set of the year to Dickson Smith, Maine scholastic champion, number one on the Cambridge private school team. Noble was the victor in three sets, 6—0, 6—3. Captain David Scott, who ended his scholastic tennis career a week ago Tuesday against Groton, did not play. Monday the Public Buildings Department was settled in its new quarters at the old Congregational Church building in West Newton, just east of City Hall. During the work of moving on Friday and Saturday the office was closed to the public. In addition to affording the department ample office space, in contrast to its crowded condition in City Hall, persons visiting the office on business will have a lobby larger than 10 by 5 feet in which to stand. Two new steel safes and other new office equipment have been installed in the present office and an exhibit of building material approved by this city will soon be on display. It is expected that the Accounting department of the city will soon move from City Hall to quarters in City Hall Annex, as the old church building will be known in the future.

OROPP The Newton High School, is honored this year by the selection of Edgar W. Warren of the senior class for the Yale Scholarship offered by the Yale Club of Boston. This scholarship is offered to pupils of about 100 schools in eastern Massachusetts and southern New Hampshire and consists of a $400 yearly gift with an addition of $200 during the first two years as a loan. This year the competition was so close that the committee divided the scholarship in half, Warren sharing the honor with a lad named Carroll of Arlington.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Newton is looking a little brighter o'nights due to the improvement here and there in street lighting. It is far from perfect and inasmuch as it costs money to do things of this kind I suppose it will require a long stretch of years before we find our city as well lighted as it should be. Fatal automobile accidents are bound to occur, it seems, and yet the number might be reduced by the installation of more and larger street lights. I base that on reports of motor mishaps and think readers of this column will agree.

While on the subject of street ii. lumination have you ever observed how street signs are obscured at night by the natural darkness and the dim readers of this column will agree.

While on the subject of street illumination have you ever observed how street signs are obscured at night by the natural darkness and the dim artificial lighting? Just poke around some evening and notice how your own neighborhood looks. See if there is a street sign in the vicinity and if there is how plainly it can be seen at night. My impression is that you will find that many a sign post is shrouded in gloom.

that many a sign post is shrouded in gloom.

Now please do not get an idea that I would in any way destroy the attractiveness of our streets. Far from it. I believe in trees and the rural charms that come of overhanging foliage. Newton has a distinctive character as a suburban dwelling place and nothing should be permitted to cause the slightest change. Our streets should always receive every possible consideration consistent with wise municipal management, and this does not mean an attmpt to make us look like a "smart" Long Island resort or one of those "live" or "thriving" cities of the Middle West. All of these are splendid places but Newton should retain its own character and not follow any of the ambitiously progressive communities that sacrifice stability for show or efficiency.

This, however, is getting away from

we take this one."

The best story in this connection I have ever heard was when the King of Belgium and his Queen were visiting this country. His Royal Highness had obligingly consented to pose but stood in a place disadvantageous from

The destruction by fire some weeks of the Back Bay station has started something in which Newton has a peculiar interest, although its residents are on another railroad line. No sooner had the ashes cooled than there was talk of a union station in the Back Bay, which, of course, would mean combining the New Haven and the Boston & Albany passenger station accommodations for whatever advantage might result.

Personally I have my doubts of the value of such a structure. I think that Newton is well served by the Trinity Place station and cannot expect to gain much from a union terminal. As gain much from a union terminal. As gain much from a union terminal. As I see it the suggestion comes from patrons of the New Haven and not from the B & A commuters. Just how it is going to benefit the former I cannot quite see. As far as anything coming to Newton people through such a scheme I believe it would be less than minus.

The placing of ordinary things in a suitcase or traveling bag is simple compared with "getting ready to go away." These are the days when vacations have begun in earnest and many families are hurrying to the shore or the country. I can sympathize with those who run around in circles at the last moment endeavoring to get things together. In has been my experience that there are about 100 things more to be done than you ever dreamed of; that more little matters requiring attention bob up at the last moment. That you receive more telephone calls in a single hour than during the whole previous week and that you really are in luck if you find yourself on the train with all you find some the possession of his normal amount of breath has my deepest admiration.

The ancient engine house, as the with it is 60 years ago. Although it is kept spick and span, as firemen are enough for the force of men assigned or duty there. The dormitory is only 21 feet by 27 feet and in it are placed eleven single beds. Even the most that is crowding things pretty badly. There are three windows—not enough for light or air—and although the room is as clean as it possibly can be death shower and toilet equip.

If the provided for the men at the Newton Corner Fire Station I am sure they would find none too large. Many a bachelor has more in his hermitage than have this baker's dozen of efficient firemen. To me it is asking too much of them. I am puzzled they haven't talked of it or made some complaint. It is greatly to their creditions. I can testify that I am personally acquainted with many of the force and have been for years with the older members, but I haven't heard as much as a grumble. Living conditions like these should not be imposed on any group of employes. I am not so sure it is not in violation of the law. I have an idea that any private individual who did no more for this employes would swiftly be called to account.

Let us see that justice is done to these men whom we expect to ready to risk their lives for our protection at a none too large salary. I hope nothing will hold up the building of splendidly appointed quarters that will serve the men and give ample provision for the apparatus. Newton owes it to itself.

I can understand the necessity of a rule that requires that no graduate of a school should be permitted to take part in an athletic contest. The fact that Newton seniors were barred from the championship baseball game shows that the rule should be amended to provide that seniors should not be prevented from playing on the day

Meanwhile they learned something about red-tape and its many and intricate windings. Such a course is not given in the schools but is valuable. These boys have obtained something through their schooling that not even the teachers expected them to learn.

The other two have received much more newspaper publicity, than ours but that does not mean that ours is least important. Without meaning to detract from our rival conventions and with all due modesty, I do believe that this convention promises quite as much for the country as either of the others. If our great potential strength should suddenly become active and our many projects for human welfare realized, I believe we would surpass the other two in strength.

Mrs. Henry Drought, chairman of the Biennial Convention board, set the keynote of the meeting when she paraphrased the gracious phrase of the Spanish saying, "What we have is yours." This was the sentiment expressed by every one on the program Tuesday night and it ended with the brilliant opening reception of the convention.

Mayor C. M. Chambers, who followed Mrs. Drought on the program told the convention assembly that San Antonio would never forget the meeting, because of the honor the General Federation has bestowed on the city by coming here. He also emphasized the work that women are doing for humanity.

The last few years the attacks upon the 18th amendment have been so concerted, so organized and directed that they constitute a challenge to us, as they ought to all law abiding organizations. It has become necessary for us to formulate a program for the support of law enforcement. I hope we shall continue to our utmost as citizens to quicken the conscience of the country to law sustaining and law abiding obligations.

She called attention to the strength of the Federation now totaling a membership of 14,000 Clubs representing about nearly three-fourths of the counties of the 3,063 counties in the 48 States and the District of Columbia.

"We are indeed the largest organization of practical home makers in the nation and I think in the world," she said. "And remember and rejoice with me that we are growing."

The need of the establishment of a $5,000,000 foundation, instead of the $500,000 which is now in effect, was stressed by Mrs. Grace Morison Poole, chairman of the executive board of the General Federation.

Mrs. Poole said in her report that a bill would be introduced in Congress, asking for a change in the Federation charter in order that an endowment fund might be established.

The possibility that the United States will have another holiday was brought out. It is asked that the first Sunday before Thanksgiving of each year be set aside, as "American Home Sunday," to have nation-wide observance.

Mrs. Duncan S. She also urged strongly that more time be given to study of proposed legislation before becoming committed in its favor.

Over the top of Uniontown Hill at 60 miles an hour! That's the spectacular performance of a strictly stock model Studebaker Commander Sedan, sweeping aside decisively the best previous record of 51 miles an hour.

And that is not all! As further clinching assurance of The Commander's unmatched mountain climbing ability, it later swept up the heart-breaking, tortuous grade and over the top at 31 miles an hour, with 14 persons swarming upon its running boards (a total of 2296 pounds).

Automobile editors of Pittsburgh newspapers were passengers in The Commander and certified the exact speeds attained. Pittsburgh police certified the accuracy of the speedometer. Mayor L. S. Crawford of Uniontown and scores of spectators observed the tests.

"A Ball of Fire"

The Traffic Committee of the Board of Aldermen, together with Chief of Police Burke, spent much of Sunday afternoon observing traffic conditions on Commonwealth avenue, particularly at the intersections of Centre, Walnut and Washington streets. Until several months ago, traffic officers were at these three points but they were removed when automatic electric traffic signals were installed. The signals move traffic very satisfactorily except during the rush hours of the morning when certain lawless and reckless autoists disregard the red stop signal set against them and drive by. It has been contended that on Sunday afternoons and evenings, and on holiday afternoons and evenings, and the intersection of Commonwealth avenue and Washington street. There is a tremendous amount of traffic on the avenue at such times and thousands of automobiles travel along Washington street. Many of the cars make left turns at this intersection and this complicates matters.

At the three intersections mentioned, the cycle of operations on the signal lights is so arranged that slightly longer periods are allowed on Commonwealth avenue than on the intersecting streets because the traffic on the avenue is considerably heavier. On Sundays and holidays there is more traffic crossing the avenue at Washington street than at Centre street, and more at Centre street than at Walnut street. It would be impracticable to have varying periods in the signal operations at these three points because to do so would interfere with the expediting of traffic on the avenue—so the travel periods for signals on the big boulevard must be synchronated.

As a result of the observations made by the Traffic Committee, apart from "The movement that swept the salon off the corner and made the United States a dry and sober nation has been the greatest forward step in public welfare in 100 years," said Governor Dan Moody at the night session Wednesday. Other phases that he enumerated included laws to prevent the spread of disease, the pure food and drug act, prison reform, labor laws, especially the protective laws for women and children. "More and better informed citizens with reference to the Constitution of the United States." was urged by Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham in her address Wednesday night. Mrs. Cunningham said that it was time that the battle against ignorance of the Constitution and Government ceased, and that the problem should be attacked scientifically. She suggested that the feasible method for abolishing ignorance of Government was to go about it in the same manner used by the architect in building a house. "If you care about public welfare, know your Government, know your public officials and then 'say it with votes,'" Mrs. Cunningham ended.

The old form of monogamic relationship in marriage is the one that is going to stand the test of time, according to the prediction made by Dr. Valeria H. Parker of New York.

In her discussion on social hygiene In her discussion on social hygiene, Dr. Parker cited figures that one out of every six marriages in the United States ends in divorce. Among the remedies being suggested for this situation, she asserted is companionate marriage, which she referred to as "a new form of partnership, more temporary in character, and free of some of the economic and parental responsibilities." Her assertion that she did not believe that this form of marriage would endure was met with much applause.

"I am sure," she continued, "that biologically and ethically the old form of monogamic relationship is going to stand, because it meets the needs of sure of the stand, because it meets the needs of the stand, because it meets the needs of the stand of

Asserting that newspapers give the public what it wants, Frank Luther Mott, director of the School of Journalism in the University of Iowa, told the second of the second he women that they have a responsi-ility as citizens to make their likes

Dr. Mott emphasized the point that this action should be based on intelli-gent and discriminating newspaper reading, not on merely skimming the headlines.

In this connection Massachusetts had the honor of having Alice Gwendoline Albee, former beloved press chairman of this State, give a report on Publicity for the Northeastern section. And, in line with Mr. Mott's advice. Club women will do well to heed advice from Mrs. Robert G. Coulter of the Press Department, who said that "Club women were expected to make news of their activities and then they were expected to get it to the papers."

The social side of the convention was made up of an endless course of luncheons and dinners, parades, barbecues, visits to nearby ranches where feasts and feats were enjoyed, a parade of the 2nd division from Fort Sam Houston, the division which bore the brunt of the Chateau Thierry and other offensives, delightful tours to old Spanish missions, and honor receptions and luncheons for prominent Club women, of whom our Mrs. Arthur Potter and Mrs. Poole were singled for recognition.

A "break" in the method of expressing a city's hospitality caused great amusement among Club women who have been making strenuous efforts for years to do away with the bill-board nuisance. San Antonio did nomean to offend the ardent anti-bill-board members when it erected a big sign board on the auditorium grounds to "welcome" the visitors, but it was a typical billboard such as some members of the Federation claim are unsightly and should be barred from highways and other places.

It was a "pretty" billboard as billboards go, however, displaying effectively, over a facsimile signature of Mayor C. M. Chambers, the official "rectiving of the city's hospitality and should be shared from highways and other places.

Upon the statement of the retiring president, Mrs. John D. Sherman, that the action taken on flood control "was not sufficiently comprehensive to suit the Federation" the convention passed a resolution indorsing the Newlands proposals for flood control, and providing for "all practicable utilization of water resources, standardize the flow of the streams for beneficial use and prevent flood devastation."

The delegates asked that the federal census in the future list women as "homemakers" instead of "unemployed" and include in its industrial data information on home equipment.

Bringing out the sordidness of adult illiteracy in various sections of the United States and explaining methods by which this can be eliminated, Mrs. Elizabeth C. Morriss, supervisor of adult education in North Carolina, opened a school of instruction for 48 delegates. Mrs. John D. The average editor receives singularly few letters from the public and most of them he does receive are of little value because they are written in anger by persons whom the paper has offended. Hyde Girls' Team Wins Championship Monday evening at six o'clock on the Newton Highlands Playgrounds, before a large throng of onlookers, the Hyde and Emerson School Girls' Baseball Teams battled for the city title.

From the beginning of the game, it was very exciting and well played by both sides.
In the first inning, Hyde scored two runs, while Emerson was contented with nothing but in the second inning it was simply reversed. In the third Hyde scored; for two more they battled, until at last Emerson scored. The next two innings neither side scored.

Ited, until at last Emerson scored. The next two innings neither side scored.

Little Anna McClean was on the mound for Hyde. In the last inning, Julia McKenna, the regular pitcher, was put in, with two on bases, and no outs. The first two batters retired by strike-outs, and the third batter came to the plate. With two strikes called, the catcher missed the ball and Emerson scored two runs. The third batter struck out.

Julia McKenna hit the ball over the short stop's head, stole second and third, and came home when the catcher muffed the ball. With a man on first, Charlotte Anderson hit for two bases. The next batter hit an easy grounder, but the first baseman dropped the ball. Helen Noonan had crossed the plate with the winning run and Anderson was on third. With only one out, two on bases and the score tied, it looked like Hyde's game. Then the Emerson pitcher threw the ball over the third baseman's head and Anderson scored. Hyde had won the championship by a score of 6-5.

The outstanding players for Hyde were McKenna, McClean, Anderson and Noonan, and for Emerson Della Fisher.

Hyde will lose many valuable play-

Hyde will lose many valuable players by graduation. They are McKenna, Pattee, Mason, Riley, Sullivan Doyle, Noonan and Gray.

Next year the following players will b back, McClean, Anderson, McCrea-y, Smith, King, Manning and Green. This is Hyde's Girls first year at aseball, and they should feel proud of themselves

Girls awarded letters were: Mc-Clean, McKenna, McCready, Mason, Noonan, Anderson, Sullivan, Doyle, Gray, King and Smith.

We rather envy the future of the thousands of young men and women who begin their life work in these modern years. They will witness and probably take an active part in unfolding the wonders of the coming generation. Just as our fathers witnessed the replacement of the stage coach by the locomotive, the candle by the oil lamp, and the advent of telegraph. Just as we of this generation have seen the locomotive challenged by the automobile and the airplane, the oil lamp by the electric light, and the advent of the telephone, the phonograph and the radio, so we believe that in the years to come, there will be still greater wonders and more useful inventions, contributing to the welfare of the world.

While the inclement weather has been most objectionable of late yet it has doubtless contributed to the splendor of the foliage and the beauty of the flowers. We have rarely seen the city more beautiful than it has been the present season.

REV. DR. WEEDEN DEAD

Rev. Charles Foster Weeden, D.D., who has been well known in Boston and Massachusetts, where he had served various pastorates, died on Monday at Athol, where he was to have served as pastor at the Congregational Church this summer. His home was at 110 Glen avenue, Newton Center.

Dr. Weeden was born in Providence, R. I., on Dec. 18, 1857, the son of William Grinnell and Almira (Orne) Weeden. He attended school in Providence and was graduated from Amherst College in 1884. deport of the deliberations of this special committee will be a remains a source of speculation. The committee members are eager to produce something. They are receiving some small measure of help from the twith them from time to time. What they would probably like and what the Legislature of the past two years has thoped for was some kind of a bill from the Governor. The latter has a never specified any provision but has only repeated his urgings that the General Court "do something," although the has threatened to keep the members in session until some kind of a bill was passed. Now it is believed that a public control bill will be reported inasmuch as the Governor has intimated he favored a short term of public control. Whether such a bill will pass both branches is another matter. Some think it stands a chance while others declare that it will be dropped "out of the window" with little ceremony.

The Senate has adopted an order to le ceremony.

The Senate has adopted an order to meet Tuesdays and Fridays and the House to meet Mondays and Thursdays of each week until further notice. Under the rules the session cannot be suspended entirely. This keeps the General Court in session which meets the requirements of the constitution.

and the large number of pupils (over forty this year) necessitates a long program.

A large and attentive audience gathered to enjoy the evening and to appland the faithful work both teachers and pupils had done as shown by the real musical understanding expressed even in the simplest numbers. The Misses Cotton are to be congratulated on holding the interest of their pupils from year to year and on awakening so understanding a response even from the beginners. An interesting feature of the evening is always the presentation of a little souvenir to each pupil who has not missed a lesson, or has made up any necessarily missed. Seventeen of them there were this year, making an attractive picture as they gathered on the platform in response to the teacher's call. One, two, three, four and even five years of perfect attendance was represented in this group. It looked as though some of the children in the audience were wishing they might be there, too.

Their wishes have been taken care of by the committee, they do not want a business district in Oak Hill at present and this district, if properly zoned, will be the ideal part of the city." Alderman Gallagher stated that "he knows Oak Hill as perhaps few men know it, and while a business section will be needed there in the future, it would be very difficult because of the sparsely settled nature of the locality to determine now where the business district ought to be placed." Alderman Powers said that "the committee had carefully considered the matter and future Boards of Alderman should be considered as possessing sufficient common sense and fairness to properly deal with the future needs of Oak Hill." He advocated action on the report of the Claims and Rules Committee with the future needs of Oak Hill."

BROOKLYN BRIDGE

As far back as 1810, plans were made to construct the Brooklyn Bridge. Weird designs were drawn calling for a bridge fully as large as the Brooklyn Bridge of to-day, but without supporting structures as the Brooklyn Bridge of to-day, but without supporting structures acking was taken to the structure of the supporting feats the bridge of to-day was completed in 1883, at a final cost of $30,000,000. The Registrars of Voters met at City Hall Tuesday afternoon to adopt the list of over 500 names picked as eligibles for jury service. These names are selected from the voting lists and placed in a box. Whenever jurors are required to serve at sessions of the Superior Court, members of the Board of Aldermen at meetings are called upon to draw the little slips, cut from the lists, out of the box. Thus, by chance, the jurors are selected. Some persons in this city have the idea the jurors are chosen deliberately and make requests either to be selected, or not to be selected, as jurors.

"What do you think of the convention?"

When that question is asked, some fairly intelligent comment should be forth coming as to the choice of candidates by the Republicans. Well, is aw it done, but I don't pretend that my opinion should command greater weight for that reason. Suppose then I tell you how it impessed one who was not a delegate but who was there to see all that was going on just the same.

Placed as I was most advantageously among the newspaper correspondents I can describe the outlook of at least one. The first thing was to see how the great auditorium had been laid out. Plenty of entrances, a comprehensive system of numbering seats, a corps of alert ushers, efficient and patient policemen all combined to do away with unnecessary confusion. By the way, many of the ushers were young women who did not seem to believe themselves ornaments but who worked industriously and constantly to perform their dutes. If I once start to tell how admirably they do things in Kansas City I shall owned the spectacles when making notes and writing. Several days before the nomination of Senator Curtis of Kansas as Vice Presidential candidate I was talking with a native of Kansas City. It happened that I was getting a little fresh air before going to bed and in the course of my walk in the park found an old gentleman who was also out for a stroll.

"We'd like to see Charley Curtis nominated President," said he, "If he is, it will be the first time a full-blooded American has held that position."

"Why," continued my chance acquaintance, "the only native Americans are the Indians and Charley Curtis is part Indian."
"You seem to think well of him"?

said I.

Monday morning early Patrolman
Leonard of the Watertown police noticed a large, ancient touring car going through Watertown Square minus running-boards, windshield and top and with the headlights tied onto the "collegiate" vehicle. According to the policeman, he also noticed that the occupants of the equipage were passing a bottle around. Leonard whistled to the car's driver to stop but the individual completely ignored the command—and continued on. Command—ering a taxi, the police started in pursuit, but, because of the head-start the other car had, it was not caught until West Newton was reached. There, Leonard stopped the "antique," and arrested its driver, Churchill Winters of 502 Cambridge street, Allston, on the charge of driving under the influence of liquor. Four other occupants of the car were arrestived charged with drunkenness. One of these was Willard Dewar of 54 California street, Watertown, who gained notoriety about two weeks ago when a Cambridge girl threw acid in his face. Winters will be tried in the Waltham court.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

A week ago Saturday the electric cars from Newton to Waltham via West Newton rolled over the rails on their last regular trips. It is 37 years since the first little box cars commenced to run from Newton Corner to Waltham. Once an hour the cars ran between the two places when the the removal of mortgaged furniture. His case was continued until yesterday.

Francis Sears 3rd, of Crescent street, Weston, was fined $10 in the Newton Court Saturday for speeding.

Early Friday morning Patrolman Muhall recovered a car on Jackson road, Newton, which had been stolen some hours before in Waltham. It was the property of Helen Ford of Elizabeth avenue, Brighton.

Patrolmen Kilmain and W. Jenkins arrested Raymond Sullivan of Brookfield road, Winthrop on Monday, charged with driving while under the influence of liquor. The arrest followed after Sullivan's car had collided with another auto at the Rowe street bridge on Commonwealth avenue. Edmund Keenan of Clarendon street, Somerville, who was riding as a passenger, was arrested on the charge of drunk, enness. Sullivan will be tried on June 27. as means of obtaining 'fresh air' that many extras were run and even then, two rows of men and boys would frequently be seen hanging on as they found a precarious footing on the running boards. Conductors on such trips earned their money as they endeavored to collect fares under such conditions.

bitter debate compelling life saving fenders to be placed at the front of each car. Some of these fenders proved successful; more of them did not.

The "tough kids" of the 90s derived much fun by teasing the conductors of street cars. The kids would steat rides by jumping on the running boards of open cars or standing on the fenders at the rear of closed cars. Pulling off trolley ropes was another diversion of bad boys. Some real "hard boiled" youngsters conceived the idea of boarding an electric car, sitting in a rear seat while the conductor collected fares up forward—and as he approached them, they would make a hasty exit and give the hararssed conductor the "merry ha.ha." This little game was stopped when conductors started to collect fares beginning at the rear of the car.

The Newton & Waltham treet railway, observing popularity of its cars in the warm weather, started to cooperate in the operation of a trolley resort at Forest Grove on the banks of the Charles River at the boundary of Newton and Waltham. Later more pretentious parks were started at Echo Bridge on the Needham side of the river, at Norumbega and at Lexington. Not only were plenies held at these places, but special cars would be hired to carry organizations on "trolley rides" over the many miles of rails of the Newton & Waltham, Lexington & Boston and other adjoining lines. The cars would be decorated and the cheering and singing trolley riders would have a truly wonderful time.

In the 90s if a boy or girl was given, or she would not spend it for a ticket to the "movies" in those gay days. In those times when a youngster became the owner of a small amount of silver coin it was more than probable that such a fortunate young person would take an excursion on the trolley cars. DEATH OF MRS. WILKINS

Mrs. Ruth E. Wilkins of Presque Isle, Maine, who has made her home in Newton with her daughter, Mrs. Jesse A. Rogers of Park street, for eight winters, left for Maine on the evening of Thursday, June 7th, to visit her sons for the summer.

When her granddaughter, who was with her on the train, tried to awake her on Friday morning she found that she had peacefully died during the night. This passing so illustrates Mrs. Wilkins' life, always taking her trials quietly and bravely. She was in her S9th year and, owing to lameness which had afflicted her for the past few years she was unable to take part in church and other activities, but her friends were always sure of a glad welcome when they came to see her. She had endeared herself to many Newton people, and she will be greatly missed.

Another Columbia flashing traffic signal was placed Wednesday at the corner of Oak and Needham streets, Newton Upper Falls. The General Electric signal costs §353 installed: the Columbia signal costs §250 installed. The Traffic Committee of the Aldermen recommended that 26 of the Columbia signals be installed at dangerous street intersections in this city. This recommendation was made several months ago. Several of these signals were installed. The Finance Committee of the Aldermen do not enthuse over the Columbia lights because they are made by a small concern and have only been installed in Newton. The Finance Committee takes the stand that, "Newton should purchase its street traffic signal lights from some large, well established concern which has had considerable experience and an established reputation for reliability." Street Commissioner Stuart is satisfied that the Columbia lights are reliable and that parts for them can easily be obtained and installed. Chief of Police Burke asserts that accidents have almost been unknown at points where the Columbia lights have been placed; points where bad accidents were frequent before the signals were installed. The difference in the cost of the two makes of signals means that either the city must appropriate more money or that fewer dangerous street intersections can be safety guarded if the more expensive type of signals is used. Now, that the General Electric signals of the flashing type are being installed at some of the street intersections, the public of Newton will have an opportunity to compare them with the newer type Columbia signals, such as have been installed at Cypress street and Braeland avenue, Newton Centre, Grove and Central streets, Auburndale, and other places, and decide for themselves which is more practicable.

M. & B BUS WRECKED

Last Friday morning about 11:30 a Middlesex & Boston bus proceeding from Auburndale to Newton was badly wrecked when it ran into a tree on Crescent street, Waltham. The top of the bus was shattered by a large limb of the tree and the six passengers in the vehicle had to leave by the emergency exit at the rear when the door of the bus could not be used. Joseph Campbell of Lexington, the operator of the bus, stated that he was forced to the side of the street by a large truck which "hogged" the road. The driver of this truck did not stop after the accident and his identity is unknown Five of the six passengers on the bus received slight injuries. Among them was Mrs. Helen Parkhurst of 329 Lexington street, Auburndale, whose right knee was bruised.

Norumbega Wins Tri-Council Meet

Norumbega Wins Tri-Council Meet
Norumbega Council, the Newton organization of Boy Scouts, met two of the older and larger Councils in this District in a friendly competition in Scout events on Saturday, June 16th, at Claffin Field and led with 31 points.
The two competitors against Norumbega were Algonquin Council, which comprises Framingham, Mariboro and the cities and towns in that vicinity; and Minute Man Council, which is our neighbor, comprising Waitham, Wellesley, Concord and Watertown. In the contests Algonquin came second with 24 points and Minute Man third with 19 points.

The move towards this tri-Council neet was started by Norumbega Counmeet was started by Norumbega Council early last winter, with the idea in mind of improving inter-Council spirit and bringing together Scouts and officers of this territory to develop a wider Scout Spirit. Many Councils were invited, but plans for summer camp and the like prevented more participants. It is planned to have another like rally next year and it is hoped that there will be more entrants.

hoped that there will be more entrants.

Teams Arrived Equipped and Well Prepared

About 2:45 o'clock teams from Algonquin Council began to arrive under Scout Executive Ralph Whitman and about the same time the Scouts and officers from Minute Man, under Assistant Scout Executive Dudley, son of the Mr. Dudley who was some years ago Scout Master of Troop 1, Newtonville, began to land at the Field.

Judges staff was composed of two men from each Council: from Norumbega Deputy Commissioner Bartram and Assistant Scout Master George H. Crosbie, of Troop 5, a veteran Scout leader, were chosen. The judges unanimously elected Deputy Bartram as Chief Judge.

At 3:10, the first event, Knot-Tying, was run off, the starting shot having been given by Mr. James R. Warren, of Norumbega who acted as starter and recorder for the meet. This event was won by Minute Man Council, with Norumbega second, represented by the team from Troop 7, West Newton, which won first place in Norumbega's Rally.

The next event, Walter Boiling, was taken by Algonquin; although Norumbega's team came in first by a big lead, they forgot to clop down the stake as required. This disqualified the team, though they did an excellent 19 job and a quick one.

Tent pitching was won by Norumbega's team, from Troop 15, Auburndale, with a handy lead. Morse Signalling was won readily by the team from Troop 4, Newton Highlands. Friction Fire was won by Scout Warren Dillaway, Troop 4, Newton Highlands. The First Aid contest, judged by Mr. McCurdy, of the New England Tel. and Tel. Company, was won by the team from Troop 11, Newton. The Relay Race was won by Norumbega's picked-up team, with Eagle Scout Evan Collins, of Troop 4, Newton Highlands, as Captain. The second place in the bugling contest was taken by Scout Kenneth Warren, of Troop 4, Newton Highlands.

That out of a daily bottle of Walker-Gordon Acidophilus Milk—you can pourtonic health for every single body cell!

Yet-literally thousands of men and women who once suffered from that handicap of millions of modern city dwellers—the sluggish intestinal tract —testify enthusiastically that the promises of science have been wonder-fully fulfilled.

Never up to par—often depressed—attacked by "nerves"—headache—they find themselves today actually different people, mentally and physically. Optimism—mental ease—and physical vitality and efficiency are theirs for the first time in years!

for the bacillus Acidophilus is a healthful organism Nature originally placed in the digestive tract to protect you. But faulty diet and lack of exercise encouraged the growth of germs of decay that drove them out, and generated poisons which the blood carried to every part of the body. Bacillus Acidophilus cultured in milk actually crowds out these harmful germs. But it must be bacillus Acid-ophilus Milk that is fresh and pure and vital.

Walker-Gordon Acidophilus Milk is made with pure cultures received at regular intervals from the New Haven Laboratory which also makes periodical examinations of the product. These cultures are placed in Walker-Gordon Milk, a product already given the closest supervision by highly trained bacteriologists.

And then, to make doubly sure that this remarkable drink shall retain all this remarkable drink shall retain all its energizing, health-giving effectiveness, it is hygienically bottled—specially sealed—and rushed to your door within twenty-four hours of production. For to win its battle with the bacilli of decay, Acidophilus Milk must be absolutely fresh and vital.

Plan To Enlarge Swedish Home For Aged This Summer

The Swedish Home for Aged People at the corner of Waltham and Crafts streets, West Newton, is to be enlarged this summer and the corner stone will be laid with appropriate ceremonies on Saturday, June 23rd.

The new building will be annexed to the old home in a way to preserve the architectural lines. It will be two stories high, 50 by 34 feet, ornamental in design, and arranged with the special thought of making it home-like and comfortable for old people. The first floor will have a large reception room, or auditorium, which may be used for public assemblies, as it is the custom of the Swedish Charitable Society to arrange special gatherings that may serve to keep the residents of the home in contact with the outside world and to continue to make new friends and acquaintances. There will be two ward rooms on the first floor for use in case of sickness, four chambers and a medicine room. The second floor is reserved mainly for single bed-rooms.

single bed-rooms. It is only about ten years since the society bought the big estate at the corner of Waltham and €rafts streets and arranged the mansion into a home for old people, assuming that it would be adequate for many years. But it filled in a short time, and there is a waiting list of applicants for which the Charitable Society deemed it nec essary to make provisions withou further delay, and it will be prepared essary to make provisions without further delay, and it will be prepared this summer to accommodate several more couples and individuals. A nominal fee is charged on admission to the home, but this is waived where circumstances require it, and the Charitable Society is seeking to establish an adequate maintenance fund.

This is the home that was founded by Prince William of Sweden. The first fund for it was raised at the time of Prince William's first visit to Boston in 1907, and the home has since been visited and aided by CrownPrince Gustavus Adolphus and the crown princess of Sweden. The construction of the addition to the home comes under the direction of G. Adolph E. Wessman, president of the Swedish Charitable Society, and Eric Norling, who is its secretary and Boston manager of the Swedish American Line.

The cornerstone ceremonies will include a midsummer celebration in which several thousand Swedish people are expected to participate. They will have a lawn party on the spacious grounds, and booths for country fair ple are expected to participate. They will have a lawn party on the spacious grounds, and booths for country fair features such as a barn show, Chinese den, fortune telling, sale of fancy work, etc. Elias B. Forslind of Everett is the general chairman of the day and August Johnson of Belmont is the general manager of the booths.

THE CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

Hugh Lawrence of 130 Lincoln street. Newton Highlands, with his pet chameleon, "Mack," won a blue ribbon when prizes were awarded for the most unusual pets entered in the Pet Show held on Saturday, June 15 at the Children's Museum of Boston. Among the unusual animals brought by their youthful owners to compete for honors was a South American wild cat, "Zuni" entered by his owner, Faith Holden of Brookline. The ocelot, no larger than a house cat, was beautifully marked with black and yellow spots like a leopard, and is said to be perfectly tame. First prize in Class II for the most unusual pet was won by the Brazillan kitty.

The Board of Aldermen, at the special meeting called last Friday night by order of Mayor Childs, voted unant-mously against reconsidering the vote passed on the preceding Wednesday night whereby the Board by a vote of 16 to 2 acted favorably on retaining in office for another year Chief of Police Bernard Burke. Chief Burke reached the age of 65 on June 22, 1926, and according to the law by which held office under Civil Service, was entitled to retirement on a pension at that time should he so desire. The recommendation for his appointment comes from the Mayor and is confirmed, or rejected, by the Board of Alderman.

During last Friday it was rumored about the city that "the opponents of Chief Burke in the Board of Aldermen intended to conduct a flibuster until after midnight." Because of this rumor as soon as President Weeks opened the meeting and its purpose was announced, under suspension of the rules a motion was made by Alderman Collins and seconded by Alderman Powers that "debate on the motion to reconsider be limited to 15 minutes by any member of the Board." Just after President Weeks put this motion, Alderman Gallagher entered the chamber and started to question the motion. He was informed by President Weeks, "A motion to limit

18 Studying and arises every morning at 1927 All-Suburban Team Wins

Last Saturday afternoon the sixth annual game between all-scholastic teams of the previous season was played at Tufts Oval with the 1927 team winning 7 to 3. Two members of the Newton high champion team took part in the game. Spencer deMille played four rinnings at first base for last year's outfit. The Newton ex-captain had little to do having but one putout. He went hitless in his only official time at bat. Spain had a busy time in the field but went hitless in four o'clock to deliver newspapers. Perhaps history may repeat itself and the printing trade may furnish another marathon champion as it did in De Mar.

The corner stone of the $25,000 addition to the Swedish Home for Aged People on Waltham street, West Newton, was laid yesterday during the 'Mid-Summer day' exercises of the Swedish Charitable Society of Greater Boston, held on the grounds.

The corner stone was laid by Axel Magnusson of Somerville, a former president of the society. In it was placed a copper box containing documents of the society, a history of the organizations and names of those on the building committee. Mayor Edwin O. O. Childs of Newton addressed the 600 persons present. Others who spoke were Carl N. Johanson, the Swedish vice-consul, and the Rev. S. E. Haglund of Dorchester. Prayers were said by the Rev. A. W. Gundelof of Roxbury.

While a brass band and an orchestra of the Swedish Glee Club played, folk dances were performed by entertainers in the Swedish national costume. A May pole was in the center of the grounds, while grouped about a midway were 15 booths in which were sold fancy foods in aid of the home. An athletic tournament completed the exercises.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER By L. D. G. BENTLEY

When is the American government and the still title governments within its fold going to begin to do something for aviation beside pinning medals on the manly or maidenly breasts of trans-oceanic filers? There is a question while is in the mind of try.

Is it enough for our great nation merely to sit by and condone heroic attempts to place commercial aviac merely to the aviation, so far behind and what is remember to the remedy? The reason is obviously lack of co-operation between entersiance of the properties of the properties. In general state of the properties of the properties of the properties of the properties. Dust Fades the Sky

Dust Fades the Sky

The sky is losing its blue color in some parts of the world, according to Sir Napier Shaw, an English meteor-clogist, due, he believes, to the presence of chemical or moisture particles forming as a result of some volcanic cruption. There is a marked effect on the climate in some areas, he declares. In 1912, the weather was unusually cold and rainy in many sections, and an eruption of Mount Katmai was accompanied by an average fall of temperature of three-quarters of a degree. In 1903 and 1904, slmi lar changes occurred with the appearance of a whitish sky.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

The Republican Business Men, Inc., New York, of which Herbert N. rauss is president, has issued the country.

There has been no time in history when the business man has had greater opportunity to make his voice effective than the period from now to the coming election in November. With the choice of Herbert Hoover as the standard bearer of the Republican Party, we have a man who recognizes the vital influence business plays in the nation's development as evidenced by his co-operation with every American industry during his incumbency of the office as Secretary of Commerce.

POLICE NEWS

Frederick Lyman of Somerville was apposed to be in the Newton Court supposed to be in the Newton Court driving, reckless driving and going away from the scene of an accident without making himself known. But, Lyman did not appear and a default warrant was ordered. Later his attorney made an appearance and asked to have the case continued until July 2nd, his request being granted. Raymond Sullivan of Winthrop was fined $100 in the Newton court on Wednesday for driving while under the influence of liquor. He was arrested last week at Auburndale after his car had collided with another auto.

Wednesday morning Serg. Moan and Officer King arrested Leo Connor of 170 Waltham street, West Newton, the was a continued to the following day I received several communications by phone and letter, (one of which I have in my hand) from citizens who objected to the reappointment of Chief Burke. I believed the objections of these citizens should be investigated, and this prompted my action on the matter of reconsideration. "Investigation since discloses fact that these citizens are disturbed, one because of failure of another because of much needed police box on Grove street, a third because traffic conditions Lexington street and Commonwealth avenue, another because of his failure to apprehend or clear.

Elemany Studies on the birth of a daught control of a daught contr

1. The Chief's request need not be in writing and can be made either to the Mayor or the Board of Aldermen; that the Chief did actually request the Mayor in 1926 to continue him in office; that the Mayor did approve that request and that the Board voted the continuation; that if the statute means that the Mayor should approve the request and not the vote, the Chief is, at the present time, legally the incumbent of the office.

2. If the vote had to be presented to the Mayor and was presented and was not approved in writing or returned by him within ten days, the vote stands approved under General Laws, Chapter 39, Section 4.

3. If the special statute is not governed by Section 4 of Chapter 39, then I advise you that the Mayor has actually approved the vote nunc pro tunc and no given time being required by the statute, Chief Burke is legally in office under that view.

4. In the absence of a plain and obvious illegality in this situation and in the absence of any Court decision to the contrary and my personal belief that the Chief is legally in office, I must so advise you for the Board of Aldermen and Mr. White as Comptroller.

Yours truly, (Signed) Joseph W. Bartlett.
